Lee County, Estero-based Non-Profit Goes to Bat for Two High School Seniors Provides Senior Trip, Prom and Graduation Experience

May 26, 2020, Estero, FL- As the Coronavirus has prompted the cancellation of high school graduation ceremonies, high school seniors across the country are missing out on big milestones due to this pandemic disease, such as senior trips, prom, and graduation.

To help ease the pain and frustration of missing out on these events and memories, a local Lee County, Estero-based 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, decided to sponsor two deserving Southwest Florida high school class of 2020 seniors to experience a senior class trip, prom and graduation.

Established by Estero resident David Van Sleet, the non-profit, Louisville Slugger Warriors, selected Lauren Hobbs from Estero High School in Lee County and Ashlee Lykins from Naples High School in Collier County, to receive this act of unanticipated kindness and generosity to help complete their senior year of high school. Both of these seniors are model students and excelled academically and athletically at their respective high schools and seek to continue to challenge themselves in college and beyond.

Their full day of unexpected surprise celebrations will take place on Saturday, May 30th, starting with a Senior Class event on the Gulf then at the Trianon Bonita Bay Hotel and will consist of a day complete with manicures/pedicures, prom dates, prom sash and corsages, plus favorite songs to dance to. They will then move on to their graduation ceremony decked out in their school colors cap, gown, and 2020 tassel.

As Van Sleet describes it, "This special day for these two young ladies will never replace their historic senior year activities but it will definitely be the next best thing and will even be captured in photos by a professional photographer."

We welcome all of our local media that would be interested in completing this feel-good day and occasion to join us in complimenting this well thought out, special occasion.

Prom & graduation will take place on Saturday, May 30th @ 5:00pm at the:

Trianon Bonita Bay Hotel
3401 Bay Commons Drive
Bonita Springs, FL 34135

This event is made possible by Louisville Slugger Warriors staff and volunteers who donated their personal time and resources.
